33RD SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

YEAR A

19 November 2017

READINGS: Prov 31:10-13, 19-20, 30-31; 1
Thess 5:1-6; Mt 25:14-30

St Paul believed that Christ's second coming was imminent. St Matthew, writing later, has accepted that we don't really know the time. Even so, he too spoke about the necessity of being watchful. In the parable of the talents he spells out what this watchfulness consists in: Carrying out the Lord's teaching to the best of one's God-given ability. The First Reading gives us the example of a woman who uses her talents well.

Gospel Reflection

Once upon a time there was a wealthy miser who melted down his hoard of gold into a single lump which he then secretly buried in his garden. Every day he went to look at it, and would spend hours gloating over it. Then one of his servants discovered his secret, and came by night and stole the gold. When the miser discovered that his treasure had been stolen, he was heart-broken. But a friend said to him, "Don't take it so badly. Just put a brick in the hole, and take a look at it every day. You won't be any worse off than before, for even when you had the gold you never used it."

All of us bury some talent which we refuse to use either for our own benefit or for the benefit of others. And what is buried is of no earthly use to anyone.

Message from Bishop Ingham following the vote on SAME-SEX MARRIAGE

The Yes vote has prevailed in the marriage postal survey and while we are disappointed, we accept the result of the survey and the democratic process undertaken. Following an amendment to the Marriage Act, civil marriage will be open to same-sex couples.

The postal survey was never a vote on the worth or dignity of people with same-sex attraction, which is beyond question, but on the meaning of marriage and the unique roles of a husband and wife in a family.

The Catholic Church will continue to promote and practise the tenet of our Faith that marriage is a lifelong union of a man and a woman, open to the possibility of children. The survey has confirmed that this is a position shared by millions of people in this country.

The focus is now on our parliament to ensure that the proper freedoms are legislated to guarantee that the many people who hold to the traditional definition of marriage are free to speak, teach and act on this belief.

My dear people,

During last year's YEAR OF MERCY Pope Francis declared that henceforth a World Day of the Poor would be celebrated in the Church each year. Today is the First, and I give you here part of his Message.

"The Son of God's way of loving is well-known. It stands on two pillars: God loved us first, and He loved us by giving completely of Himself, even to laying down His life. Such love cannot go unanswered. Whenever we set out to love as Jesus loved, we have to take the Lord as our example—especially when it comes to loving the poor.

" 'This poor man cried, and the Lord heard him' (Psalm 34). The Church has always understood the importance of this cry. In the very first pages of the Acts of the Apostles, St Peter asks that seven men be chosen for the ministry of caring for the poor (the first Deacons). The earliest community realized that being a disciple of Jesus meant demonstrating fraternity and solidarity, in obedience to the Master's proclamation that the poor are blessed and heirs to the Kingdom of heaven. 'They sold their possessions and goods and distributed them to all, as any had need' (Acts 2:45).

"The Apostle James conveys the same message: "What does it profit, my brethren, if a man says he has faith but has not works? Can his faith save him? If a brother or sister is poorly clothed and in lack of daily food, and one of you says to them, 'Go in peace, be warmed and filled', without giving them the things needed for the body, what does it profit? So faith by itself, if it has not works, is dead' (James 2).

"There are times when Christians have not fully heeded this appeal, and have assumed a worldly way of thinking. Yet over two thousand years, how many pages of history have been written by Christians who, in utter simplicity and humility have served their poorest brothers and sisters! The most outstanding example is that of Francis of Assisi. He was not satisfied to embrace lepers and give them alms, but chose to go to Gubbio to stay with them. We may think of the poor simply as the beneficiaries of our occasional volunteer work—what we need is a true encounter with the poor and a sharing that becomes a way of life. If we wish to truly encounter Christ we have to touch His body in the suffering bodies of the poor. The Body of Christ, broken in the Eucharist, can be seen in the faces and persons of the most vulnerable of our brothers and sisters. St John Chrysostom's admonition remains ever timely: 'If you want to honour the body of Christ, do not scorn it when it is naked; do not honour the Eucharistic Christ with silk vestments, and then, leaving the church, neglect the other Christ suffering from cold and nakedness'.

"We are called, then, to draw near to the poor, to encounter them, to meet their gaze, to embrace them and to let them feel the warmth of love that breaks through their solitude. Their outstretched hand is also an invitation to step out of our certainties and comforts, and to acknowledge the value of poverty itself. Let us never forget that, for Christ's followers, poverty is above all a call to follow Jesus in his own poverty.

"We know how hard it is for our contemporary world to see poverty for what it is. Poverty has the face of women, men and children exploited by base interests, crushed by the machinations of power and money. What a bitter and endless list we would have to compile were we to add the poverty born of social injustice, moral degeneration, the greed of a chosen few, and generalized indifference! Tragically, in our own time, even as ostentatious wealth accumulates in the hands of the privileged few, often in connection with illegal activities and the appalling exploitation of human dignity, there is a scandalous growth of poverty in broad sectors of society throughout our world. Faced with this scenario, we cannot remain passive, much less resigned. All the poor – as Blessed Paul VI loved to say – belong to the Church by 'evangelical right', and require of us a fundamental option on their behalf.

"At the conclusion of the Jubilee of Mercy, I wanted to offer the Church a World Day of the Poor, so that throughout the world Christian communities can become an ever greater sign of Christ's charity for the least and those most in need. I invite the whole Church, and men and women of good will everywhere, to turn their gaze on this day to all those who stretch out their hands and plead for our help and solidarity. They are our brothers and sisters, created and loved by the one Heavenly Father. God created the heavens and the earth for all; yet sadly some have erected barriers, walls and fences, betraying the original gift meant for all humanity, with none excluded.

"This new World Day, therefore, should become a powerful appeal to our consciences as believers, allowing us to grow in the conviction that sharing with the poor enables us to understand the deepest truth of the Gospel. The poor are not a problem: they are a resource from which to draw as we strive to accept and practise in our lives the essence of the Gospel.
